

Workmen Free Girl In Debris: Chemical Plant Blast Kills One; Ruins Searched For Ten Missing

HAWTHORNE, N.J. (AP) — "Don't leave me! Please don't leave me!" pleaded Sandy Kanter, a pretty 19-year-old laborer, as she was pulled from the debris of a series of explosions that ripped a chemical plant.

Two workmen, despite the possibility of another explosion at any moment, freed the girl in the aftermath of the blast Friday that left at least one man known dead and 10 others missing and presumed by authorities to be buried in the ruins.

Eighteen persons were injured, two seriously.

Sifting through the rubble under floodlights and knocking down foot-long icicles that had formed during the day, nearly 300 volunteer firemen searched through the night for the missing men.

George Decker, 43, one of the workmen who helped free Miss Kanter, was at work some distance from the apparent center of the explosions in the block-square complex of the Morningstar Pailsley Division of the International Latex Corp.

Decker made his way through the dust and rubble to the exit.

Find Two Bodies

HAWTHORNE, N.J. (AP) — Two bodies of the 11 men missing in a chemical plant explosion were discovered shortly after dawn today by using a German shepherd dog.

Rescuers continued to pick through the wreckage of the destroyed plant for the other men believed buried in the ruins.

where he saw other workers fleeing one of the three red brick, four-story buildings. Some were crying out in terror, some bleeding, some holding handkerchiefs to their faces.

Decker was told that someone was trapped on the third floor. He raced back into the flaming building with several other workers and policemen.

He found Miss Kanter pinned by a cabinet and a pile of bricks that had fallen on her leg. Flames were shooting up the side of the building as if from a furnace fire. The flames were only four feet above the girl's head.

"Don't leave me! Please don't leave me!" She pleaded.

"Don't worry, honey, we won't leave you," Decker assured her.

He told a coworker, Orlando Gomez, 32, to get a bar.

"He brought back two iron bars," said Decker. "We tried to pry her out but couldn't. Then Gomez lifted the cabinet and I pulled her out."

was saying, "Which way can we go?" but we managed to find our way out.

"She wouldn't let us carry her. She insisted on walking out of there, although I don't know how she did it. We went down a back staircase as fast as we could."

Decker said he knew there were some drums in the yard that could explode at any minute but, "I just tried not to think about it."

The blast disrupted electric power in the area and rocked this community of 18,000, which is 15 miles east of New York City.

Flames shot as high as 100 feet from the blazing plant as the fire raged for hours after the first explosion shortly before noon.

The cause of the explosions was not immediately known. Unofficial estimates were that damage costs would be several million dollars.

Griffin Charges News Falsified

LANSING (AP) — The Johnson Administration is releasing false information about the war in Vietnam, and may be prolonging the war by doing it, U.S. Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., has charged.

"Information fed out by the administration oftentimes is found out to be false," Griffin said.

Griffin also said Gov. George Romney is generally regarded in Washington as the leading candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

He said he thought Romney would beat Johnson if both men ran in 1968. "I think Romney has the qualities that many Americans are looking for right now," Griffin said.

Griffin said in a speech Friday night that Republicans demonstrate they deserve the "mantle of leadership" if they are to win the presidency in 1968.

Griffin, back home for a series of Lincoln Day dinner fund-raising speeches, spoke to 250 persons at Siena Heights College in Adrian.

Republicans must show that the GOP is a national party that welcomes all segments of the population, Griffin said, adding that they must develop positive programs.

He cited such GOP programs as federal-state revenue sharing, the Human Investment Act, whereby industry retraining workers, and the (U.S. Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill.) Plan to encourage home ownership among low income families.

said Friday in an interview.

"If we can't convince our friends that our word means something, it's going to be very difficult to convince our enemies," he said. North Vietnam's response to U.S. peace overtures may depend on whether that nation trusts the sincerity of the administration, Griffin said.

Griffin also said Gov. George Romney is generally regarded in Washington as the leading candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Aussies Foil Ambush; Kill 70 Viet Cong

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Australian troops bypassed an enemy ambush and killed 70 Viet Cong in a six-hour battle Friday, spokesman for the 1st Australian Task Force announced today.

It was the fourth straight day allied units — South Vietnamese, Koreans, Americans and Australians — have clashed with guerrillas or North Vietnamese regulars. They have claimed an over-all enemy death toll exceeding 1,000.

This week's battles raged from the Mekong Delta to northern Quang Ngai Province and although the action tapered off today, allied troops continued hunting for their fleeing adversaries.

There was no pattern to the week's outbreak of major fighting, the heaviest so far this year. Several battles were initiated by Communists trying to overrun allied positions or blocking posts — the others started when probing allied units found the enemy and hemmed them in.

The Australians swept through the coastal swamps 47 miles southeast of Saigon today and said they had killed 70 men of the Viet Cong's veteran D445 Mobile Battalion.

Rock Fall Kills Osceola Miner

CALUMET (AP) — A 19-year-old miner was killed Friday when he apparently was struck by a rock fall more than a half-mile underground in Osceola shaft No. 13 in the Calumet Laurium District.

The victim, James Cleveland, was operating a scraping machine about 3,500 feet down when the accident occurred.

CIA Threatened Jail To Trap Students In International Spying

WASHINGTON (AP) — With money, draft deferments and the threat of jail the Central Intelligence Agency laid "an ethical trap for young men of great integrity," say leaders of the National Student Association.

To the CIA it was a valuable weapon in the back alley struggle of international espionage. To the students involved it became an agony and a horror.

In the end, the moral strain on the students became too great and it shattered the 15-year secret relationship between the government spy agency and the nation's largest student organization.

That was the story told Friday night by leaders of the NSA as they emerged from three days and nights of nearly continuous discussion of the crisis that disclosure of the relationship had created for them. But they plan to continue the student organization.

Much of what they said already had come out in the days since Ramparts magazine spotlighted the undercover link early this week.

In a statement read by Samuel Brown, chairman of the 10-member supervisory board of the NSA, NSA leaders said they received between $1 million and $2 million in hidden CIA funds through 21 foundations and individuals.

Brown named six — Foundation for Youth and Student Affairs, Catherwood Foundation, San Jacinto Fund, Independence Foundation, Sidney and Esther Rabb Foundation and an individual, R.A. Smith. This was the first mention of the Catherwood Foundation's involvement.

In addition, Brown said, last year's president, Philip Sherburne, told the board there were 15 other foundations and individuals that had channeled smaller amounts of CIA funds to NSA through the years. Brown said he did not know their names.

The money went into NSA's overseas activities, seminars for foreign students as operating expenses, including rent on the four-story Washington headquarters of the organization. In some years CIA money made up 80 per cent of NSA's budget, Brown said.

He said the CIA also helped "negotiate" draft deferments for top NSA officials. An NSA spokesman earlier had denied there were any strings pulled to get draft deferments, but it turned out he was talking only of the present officials.

For its part, the CIA got strong U.S. student representation at world student conferences, information about politics and student activities in foreign lands and a line on their rising young leaders.

Few knew CIA Role

The information brought back by NSA overseas representatives was given to CIA agents in informal meetings in restaurants or on the street, Brown said.

What came out with fresh impact Friday night was the reaction of the present NSA leaders to the CIA's penetration of their organization when they learned of it for the first time a few weeks ago.

Brown, a 23-year-old divinity student at Harvard, expressed it when he was asked how the CIA recruited students to spy for it. The selected individual was given a security check by the CIA without his knowledge, Brown said, and if he passed, was called in for a discussion with NSA leaders. Usually only one or two top leaders were aware of the CIA's role.

AFL-CIO Head Gives Brush To Peace Efforts

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany plans prompt action to replace resigned United Auto Workers chief Walter Reuther on the big labor federation's ruling executive council, it was learned today.

Meany, irked at Reuther's 7,000-word attack on AFL-CIO leadership, will brush aside the attempts of peacemakers to patch up the quarrel between the two most powerful men in organized labor, it was learned on highest authority.

Previous reports among union leaders gathering for the 13.5-million-member federation's executive council meeting had indicated the possibility of putting off a decision on whether to replace Reuther until it became clear whether Reuther will pull the Auto Workers completely out of the federation.

Reuther, who joined Meany 11 years ago in the historic merger of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, last month sharply attacked Meany's leadership on all fronts, including foreign policy, economics, civil rights and bargaining tactics.

Meeting Is Monday

Although Meany has been in a jarring mood about Reuther's harsh criticisms, it was learned today that the federation president is deadly serious about electing a replacement for Reuther on the 28-member council.

Meany will formally open the council meeting here Monday. Reuther has not appeared in advance of the council, and is not expected to.

Some other major powers in the federation have been seeking some means of handling the growing and bitter feud between Meany, 72, and Reuther, 39.

But Meany will not delay Reuther's replacement on the council as a conciliatory gesture in hopes of retaining the 1.4-million-member Auto Workers' union.

Decide In April

The Auto Workers in April are expected to decide whether to make a complete break with the AFL-CIO, which would be the greatest schism in labor's ranks since the federation was founded in 1955.

Meany reportedly is most angered about Reuther's long letter of criticism which was sent to all Auto Workers locals earlier.

Meany's position, it was learned, is that the only official item of business before the upcoming council meeting is the resignation of Reuther as an AFL-CIO vice president, and the resignation of Reuther and other top Auto Workers officials from all committees of the AFL-CIO.

Replaces All Resignees

It was learned also, Meany has every intention of acting upon the resignations immediately, and replacing all the resigned auto workers officials.

One of the most puzzling aspects of Reuther's actions, in Meany's view, reportedly is that Reuther was chairman of the AFL-CIO Organizing and Economics committee, two of the principal areas of the Auto Workers president's blasts at the federation.

Meany, sources said, feels that in these posts, Reuther never really put his own theories into practical use.

In any event, it is clear that Reuther is out of the federation's leadership as far as Meany is concerned.

Pups Rescued; Rejoin Family

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Clark household was trying to get back to normal today after the last of three German shepherd puppies were rescued from a 28-foot well.

Besides the now-famous pups, the household includes Mr. and Mrs. Avery L. Clark Jr., five children, six other dogs, five cats and three horses.

"Maybe we can get back to normal now," Mrs. Clark said. "The telephone rang all the time with words of encouragement from Cincinnati, San Francisco, New York and other places."

The four-week-old dogs had wandered away from their mother, Lady, five days ago and tumbled into the well.

W.C. Brooks, head of the Knoxville Volunteer Rescue Squad—who has been in the rescue business 10 years—said he never has seen anything like the effort which led to their rescue.

Two of the pups were rescued Thursday. One was hauled out in a sling baited with food. The last was pulled up Friday with a noose attached to a long pole.

Traffic Accident News Law Passes In State Senate

LANSING (AP) — A resolution condemning the appearance of American Nazi Party leader George Lincoln Rockwell at Western Michigan University was introduced in the State Senate Friday.

The measure was sent to the Senate Business Committee.

The Senate also passed, 34-0, a bill which would allow law enforcement officers to make public information concerning traffic accidents.

The bill is designed to correct a stipulation in the present law that such reports be used for statistical purposes only.

Pressures Build For Vatican To Review Celibacy

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pressure was said today to be increasing inside the Vatican for a major review of Roman Catholicism's clerical celibacy rule, as more priests abandon their vows for marriage.

"It can hardly be avoided," said one expert here who foresaw such a study in commenting on the latest case from England — the decision Friday by a 27-year-old missionary, the Rev. Arnold McMahon, to take a wife.

Some sources cautioned, however, that any Vatican-ordered review was likely to change only the way young seminarians are introduced to the prospect of lifetime celibacy and not bring about a relaxation of the church's celibate tradition.

They said celibacy was rapidly matching birth control as the toughest problem throughout the church in need of an answer.

Far more is involved in the Vatican's increasing concern over "defecting priests," it was explained, than the recent English cases.

Father McMahon, a member of the Divine Word religious order who was disciplined three years ago for publicly favoring contraception for married Catholics, said in London that he was marrying an American Catholic girl.

The 1962-1963 Vatican Ecumenical Council reaffirmed celibacy as a benefit to the priesthood while noting that it is "not demanded by the very nature of the priesthood."

State Tourist Dept. Proposed

Four bills dealing with a proposed new Michigan Department of Tourism have been introduced in the Legislature with Rep. Robert Davis (R-St. Ignace) as co-sponsor.

Davis said 12 million persons vacationed in Michigan in 1966, spending an estimated $1,065 billion and the state benefited in excess of $70 million in sales and use taxes, hunting and fishing license fees, camping fees and cigarette, liquor and gasoline taxes.

Davis' bills would:

1. Create a department for tourist promotion. The State Tourist Council, once a state department, is now a division of the Conservation Department, which is one of the 19 state departments allowed under a constitutional reform permitting 20 state departments.

Tourism, our second largest industry, is deserving of more than division status, says Davis.

2. Make the State Tourist Council responsible for promotion and distribution of state promotional and informational literature, coordinated with efforts of the four regional tourist associations, of which the Upper Michigan Tourist Association serves the Upper Peninsula. The Council would operate the state tourist information center's now operated by the State Highway Department.

3. Increase annual state subsidy of the four regional tourist agencies from $44,000 to $100,000 each.

4. Establish a full time tourist research and development program as a division of the Tourist Council.

Davis said promotion could increase the annual income from tourism by 50 per cent to at least $1.5 billion within 5 years.

Kitchen Sink And False Teeth Found In Park

Last year, forgetful motorists left behind a trail of several hundred assorted items of value ranging from false teeth to a kitchen sink in Michigan's roadside parks, freeway rest areas and travel information centers.

Several hundred items of value were found by maintenance workers while picking up trash and other debris.

In addition, a tourist found more than $50 on the lawn of one of the Highway Department's travel information centers. It will be given to the finder if the person who lost it fails to claim the money within a year.

Articles bearing names and addresses are returned to their owners. However, car keys, gloves, rings, clothing and other articles without identification are turned over to the Highway Department's office services division in Lansing.

Soil Saving Leader Leaving

Irwin Ten Haken, 925 S. 15th St., conservationist for the Delta County Soil Conservation District will leave Escanaba March 27 to take a new position with the Soil Conservation Service at Portage, Wis.

He will serve the Columbia County Soil & Water Conservation District as conservationist.

Ten Haken has been in Delta County 14 years with the Soil District, which was organized in 1951. In this period Delta County has shared the national loss of farms and the trend toward bigger farms.

At first he worked exclusively with farmers, but service has been broadened to include all lands, including those of recreationists.

Surface drainage was a major interest in his early years here, with as much as 12 miles of surfacing ditching constructed in a year. Today not more than a mile or two is constructed.

"It indicates that we've done much of the necessary drainage," said Ten Haken "although there still is some to be done. We used to think that erosion was a top problem and we still have it, both wind and water erosion, although it's hard to imagine this winter with all the snow we have. It's pretty well protected."

"The spring coming up will be another good one for tree planting in Delta County. We have been planting more than a hundred acres a year in trees and our interest in wildlife has led to the construction of dozens of farm and wildlife ponds in the county in the past few years."

Ten Haken's successor has not been announced.

Dogs Greatest Enemies Of Deer

MADISON, Wis. — Dogs and deer can be a troublesome combination, and reports coming into Wisconsin Conservation Department fieldmen tell of problem areas where deer-chasing dogs are giving them real headaches.

Crusted snow that won't support a running deer, and slows the animal's speed enough to give dogs a chance to catch him, is a major factor. Such snow conditions are common in much of central and northern Wisconsin.

In the northwest conservation area, Game Management Supervisor B. L. Dahlberg blamed dogs for the "greatest proportion of annual deer losses to predators." He points out that family pets, even small dogs, can be deer slayers if they work together. The owners may not be aware of the dogs' activities.

Ypsilanti UFOs Are Flares On Weather Balloons

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — "I'm not going to worry about these things until I can see the little men waving."

With that, Police Chief Ray Walton of Ypsilanti closed the file on the latest report of flying saucers in Michigan.

Police received several telephone calls Thursday night from persons who reported seeing unidentified flying objects in the Ypsilanti-Ann Arbor area.

Later, a telephone caller told police that a friend of his was launching weather balloons with flares attached — accounting for the UFO reports, and Friday police closed out the case.

Ski Resorts Report Gains

A record winter vacation travel season is in sight for Michigan's tourist industry, according to a mid-season survey by the Michigan Tourist Council.

William T. McGraw, director, said most of the ski resorts and chambers of commerce reported sizable gains in winter business.

"If the trend continues, we expect that the winter of 1966-67 will be a record season for the tourist industry," McGraw said.

A big season will help offset losses of last winter, the first in more than a decade that Michigan has experienced a downward trend in winter sports activity. The decline was attributed to below average snow conditions.

So far this winter, however, Michigan has received a generous amount of snow and cold weather, and resorts from Detroit to the tip of the western Upper Peninsula have been extremely busy catering to the ski crowd and other winter sports enthusiasts.

Ironically, the record snowfall of late January appears to be the only hitch in an otherwise bright season. The heavy snow belt across southern Lower Michigan severely limited travel to and from northern ski areas.

The Pine Mountain ski resort at Iron Mountain reported a five to six per cent decrease in business, largely because its skiers were snowbound in Chicago and Milwaukee.

Indianhead Mountain, Wakefield, expects a 25 per cent increase for the season. Business is now about 5 per cent over last year.

Marquette Chamber of Commerce, ski business better than last year, overall travel business about the same.

Big Powderhorn Mountain, Bessemer, business up about 9 to 11 per cent.

Sault Ste. Marie Chamber of Commerce, ski business up about 10 per cent, overall business down because of poor traveling weather.

Legislators Told Parks Are Being Developed

LANSING — A recent rap of several Northern Michigan legislators against the Conservation Department for supposedly not putting enough emphasis on the development of state parks today drew a point-blank reply from Conservation Commissioner Harry H. Whiteley of Rogers City.

Whiteley commented: Of $10 million appropriated under the state park bonding program, some $7.1 million has been for capital development. That leaves less than one-third for land acquisition.

The commissioner noted that the department's spending request for the 1967-68 fiscal year would channel $10 million into park development work, with $5 million going for land acquisition.

Under the Department's new 10-year, $377-million recreation plan for Michigan, $150 million is sought for park expansion with the bulk of this — $108 million — pegged to development.

Whiteley said that the Department is not soft-pedaling the need to acquire additional park lands. "Additional land is the basic denominator of future park development. Without it, we would have nothing to develop, and the repercussions of our recreation boom leave no question that we desperately need more park lands to handle leisure-time demands."

Also Whiteley stressed, the department must pick up more park lands while they are still available and not at prices that are astronomically high. In many areas of Michigan, the Department faces an 11th-hour decision in acquiring more park land, he said.

Michigan is losing land to various developments at the rate of 200 acres per day. "Some of this land," he noted, "has great value for park development and if the Department does not acquire it before it is put into other uses, it is lost forever as potential recreational property for the public."

Rotary To Host Delta Farmers; Perras To Speak

The future of the Upper Peninsula State Fair will be discussed by Cliff Perras, Fair secretary-manager, at a meeting of the Rotary Club to be held at the House of Ludington Tuesday noon, Feb. 21.

Farmers of Delta County will be guests of the Rotary Club for the luncheon program, an annual event in the Rotary year to encourage continued friendly rural-urban relations. Perras will describe the Fair's objectives in serving the agricultural, industrial and educational needs of the region.

The efforts being made by the U. P. State Fair Board of Managers in improving the facilities and program of the Fair will be explained by Perras.

Farm Bureau Meets
A discussion on the "progress of a Legislative Bill" was led by Octave Carrigan at the regular meeting of the Delta County 428 Farm Bureau recently at the Edward Marenge home, Cornell. Mrs. Beatrice Ford reported that the women's committee will sell chances on a knitted sweater to raise money for the Marjorie Karker scholarship. Lunch was served and cards were played. Next meeting was set for March 14 at the Carl VanDress home.

All of Michigan for many years has been on the same time, with the exception of two counties and a community in the Upper Peninsula.

The identical bills introduced Thursday by Ruppe and Ford are aimed primarily at Michigan but would apply to any state divided by federal law into two time zones.

Clevenger Gets Poverty Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Michigan Congressman Raymond F. Clevenger of Sault Ste. Marie has been appointed a rural poverty study consultant in the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Clevenger, who was elected to the House of Representatives from Michigan's 11th Congressional District in 1964, lost his bid for reelection last November to Republican Philip Ruppe of Houghton. The 11th District includes all of the Upper Peninsula and part of northern Lower Michigan.

Fifty-one Democratic congressmen were defeated in last year's primaries and general elections. So far 17 have federal appointments and jobs, at least five are looking and three are in line for positions in their states.

The other 28 Democrats returned to law practice and other private jobs back home.

Clevenger, before entering the political arena, practiced law at Sault Ste. Marie. He is also a former Michigan Securities Commissioner.

Plan National Scenic Trail To Cross Peninsula

By KEN LOWE

The U.S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation has recommended establishment of a system of long National Scenic Trails, one of which would cut across the Upper Peninsula from east to west.

"Trails for America," the bureau's recently published report, urges that detail studies be undertaken promptly of the feasibility of developing a North Country Trail that would include the Upper Peninsula and four other potential National Scenic Trails.

The report recommends immediate National Scenic Trail status for the famed Appalachian Trail and early NST status for the Pacific Crest Trail, Potomac Heritage Trail and Continental Divide Trail.

The trails would be used for hiking, bicycling and horseback riding. A bill to establish a nationwide system of trails already has been introduced in this session of Congress by Rep. Melvin Price of Illinois, it stipulates that the system would be composed of especially designated trails, trails within areas administered by the U.S. Department of the Interior and Agriculture, trails within state parks and forests and other areas and recreation trails on lands in and near metropolitan areas.

Across U.P. Trail

Michigan, with 650 miles of trail, already maintains one of the most ambitious trail programs in the Midwest, but most of this mileage is located downstate, including a shore-to-shore riding and hiking trail that extends 200 miles from Lake Michigan to Lake Huron.

In the Upper Peninsula the state maintains a rather extensive trail system in the Porcupine Mountains State Park. The National Park Service has developed a trail system that extends the length of Isle Royale National Park. And the U.S. Forest Service has partially completed a hiking and riding trail that will wind through the Hiawatha National Forest from Rapid River to Grand Marais.

The trails report prepared by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation stresses the public demand for a variety of trail activities. "Walking, hiking and bicycling are simple pleasures within the economic reach of virtually all citizens," the report states. "Horseback riding, even though increasingly expensive for urban dwellers, is available to a large proportion of Americans."

"Opportunities to enjoy these basic activities have become increasingly limited for the American people as the society has urbanized and as economic development has pre-empted areas which had earlier been devoted to outdoor recreation uses. Today, with more leisure time and with rising amounts of disposable income available for recreation uses, more and more Americans are seeking relaxation and physical and spiritual renewal in the enjoyment of these traditional simple pleasures."

Straita Crossing?

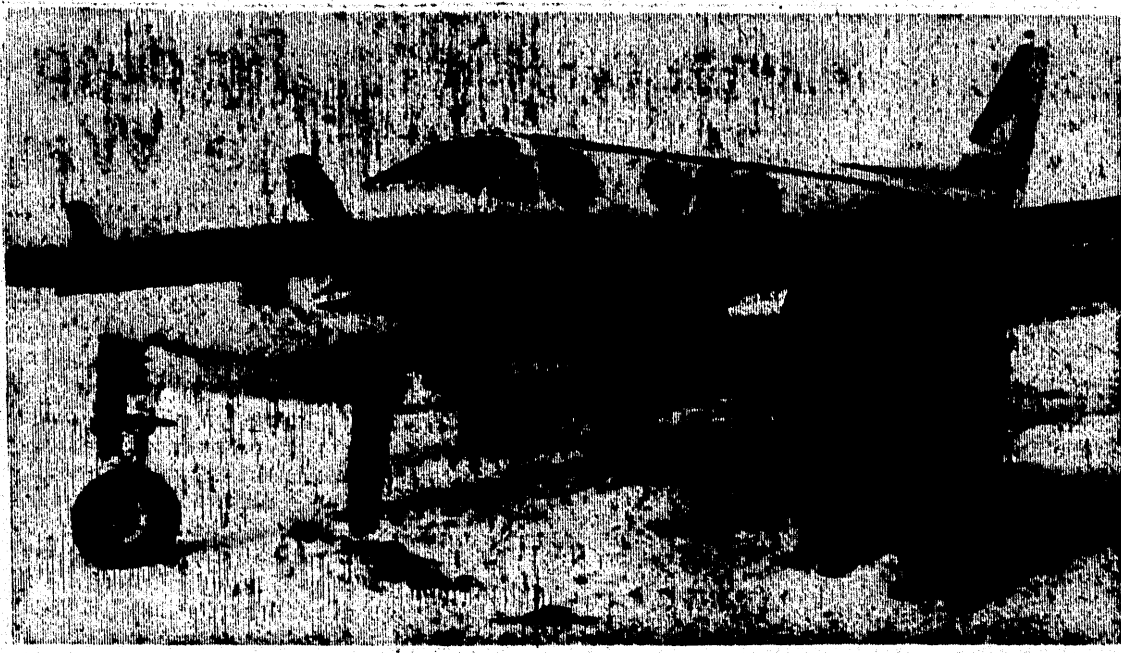

The proposed North Country Trail would extend 3,170 miles between the Appalachian Trail and Green Mountain in Vermont and the Badlands of western North Dakota, where it would meet the Lewis and Clark Trail.

Following the Lake Michigan shoreline in the Lower Peninsula, it would cross into the Upper Peninsula at the Straits of Mackinac. (No mention is made in the report about how hikers would cross the Mackinac Bridge, which is closed to pedestrian traffic at all times except Labor Day, when hikers are welcome to use the bridge.)

The trail would fork at the Straits, one fork swinging east to the St. Mary's River to Whitefish Bay and then west along Lake Superior, the other fork turning west and following Lake Michigan. The two forks would come together near Marquette and the trail would follow Lake Superior westward into Wisconsin (cutting away from the lake at the base of the Keweenaw Peninsula).

The land ownership pattern along the proposed route includes approximately 1,290 miles that are administered by public agencies and 1,880 miles in private ownership.

In addition to Vermont, Michigan and North Dakota, the North Country Trail would pass through New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, northern Wisconsin and Minnesota.

HARNISCHFEGER executives and employees will be able to cruise at 250 miles per hour from plant to plant in this new company airplane, Beechcraft King Air, obtained Thursday. With seating for six passengers, the plane made its maiden flight to Escanaba Friday. With the aircraft are, from left, co-pilot Charles Christenson and Capt. Howard Ehlers, pilot. P&H Purchases Company Plane

Harnischfeger Corp., executives, heavy users of commercial and charter air transportation in recent years, will be making many of these flights from now on in a brand new company airplane.

The plane, a white, twin-engine Beechcraft King Air turboprop decked out with stripes of Harnischfeger's black and gold colors, made its maiden voyage to Escanaba Friday, ferrying six Milwaukee executives to visit the Escanaba plants.

Delivery of the aircraft to Milwaukee from the Beechcraft factory at Wichita, Kan., was made Thursday.

Wisconsin Fears Big Grouse Loss

MADISON, Wis.—Wisconsin's ruffed grouse population may have taken a tough body blow from the late January ice and sleet storm, Conservation Department game managers fear. The damage is likely to be most severe in north central counties. Although sleet and ice hurt all wildlife, ruffed grouse are first to suffer. Grouse roost under the snow, which insulates them from severe cold. Ice crusts the snow, making it impossible for birds to bury themselves and occasionally trapping them below the surface if the crust forms at night.

In addition, grouse depend primarily on buds of trees and shrubs for winter food. Such buds may be covered with ice for several days, making it difficult for birds to get at them. During extended cold weather, grouse and most other wildlife need a continuous food supply to maintain body weight and strength.

"It's a honey of a airplane," said pilot Howard Ehlers, who has been flying charter trips for Harnischfeger since 1961.

A company spokesman said Harnischfeger hopes to achieve a substantial savings in travel with its own airplane, both in time and in money. Last year alone, P&H logged about 2,400 hours and better than 50,000 miles flying its personnel on company missions.

"We've been using charter aircraft since 1961 because many of plant locations, such as Escanaba, are not served by frequent commercial flights," he continued. "This is about the only way we can get personnel to a plant, allow them to perform a day's work and get them back to Milwaukee in time to work the next day."

The spokesman said he expected the new plane to be making trips to Escanaba about once a week.

Besides its own flights, Harnischfeger is one of the largest users of commercial flights in Milwaukee.

The new plane can carry six passengers, plus pilot Ehlers and his co-pilot, Charles Christenson, also of Milwaukee. The aircraft has a pressurized cabin, "all the latest" electronic navigational equipment and has a cruising speed of about 350 miles per hour, Ehlers said.

Delta To Send 13 Into Army

Thirteen young men from Delta County, including eight volunteers, will leave Wednesday, March 1, for Milwaukee where they will be inducted into the U.S. Army.

Clerk of Local Draft Board 21, Mary M. Wagner, said the men have been ordered to report to the Selective Service office, 1108 Ludington St., at 11:45 a.m. for departure by charter bus.

Besides the inductees, she said, 32 pre-inductees have been ordered to report at the same time. Eight of the men in the pre-induction group have had orders mailed to other cities. The group from Escanaba will return March 2 from Milwaukee.

Leader of the induction group is Michael D. Kulack, Rock. Other inductees are John J. Peltin, Patrick J. Chesser, James D. Crawford, Michael E. O'Donnell, Raymond P. Juettin, Dennis P. Swanson, Lyle L. Berro, Dennis R. Nelson, all of Escanaba; Dennis L. Livermore, Robert A. Stevens and Russell P. Sargent of Gladstone; and Napoleon J. Viaw of Rapid River.

Plan To Launch Latin-American Common Market

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Western Hemisphere foreign ministers gathered for an unusual weekend session today to hammer out details for an inter-American summit conference.

Informal agreement was reached Friday to hold the meeting at the resort city of Punta del Este, Uruguay, possibly starting April 14. Chiefs of state of 20 nations, including President Johnson, are expected to attend.

The main goals of the summit will be to launch a Latin-American common market and bolster the lagging Alliance for Progress, which was launched at Punta del Este in 1961.

The biggest hurdle in drafting an agenda for the presidents is the desire of each country to gain as much and lose as little as possible in a common market. The market would provide the basis for economic integration of 230 million people.

The less developed countries, such as Colombia, Chile and Peru, have the most to gain and favor rapid integration. The more industrialized nations—Argentina, Mexico and Brazil—have the most to protect and want a more gradual approach.

The burgeoning Central American common market also is afraid of losing its identity in a larger body.

But diplomats say they have found "a remarkable attitude of cooperation."

The United States has encouraged the completion of a common market program by 1980.

Four Of Family Hurt In Crash

MANISTIQUE — Four persons of a Manistique family were injured in a collision between a car and a truck on U.S. 2 about five miles east of Blaney Park at 4:10 a.m. today, State Police reported.

Taken to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital by ambulance were Clifford DeMars, 132 N. Houghton, his wife, Charlotte, and their two children, Michelle and Mitchell. Mrs. DeMars and her son are continuing to receive treatment. Extent of their injuries was not immediately available.

State Police of the Manistique and Newberry Posts, who are still investigating, said DeMars' automobile struck the rear of a truck driven by William Honkila of Bessemer. The truck was owned by Skinner Leasing Co., Reedsburg, Wis., officers said. The driver was not injured.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

How Near Is Peace?

Even if you're not a foreign policy buff it becomes apparent that there is a lot of activity around the world trying for peace in Vietnam.

The Johnson Administration wants peace as much as the American people, which means enormously. It wants it for humane reasons and it wants it for political reasons, because next year is Presidential election year and if they're still shooting in Vietnam Mr. Johnson is apt to have a hard time at the polls.

There have been great efforts by the Administration to end the war. They haven't succeeded yet because until now:

- Hanoi has been able to continue the war and has believed that it could eventually win the war militarily, as it won the long struggle that eventually pushed the French out of old Indo-China after World War II.

- Hanoi couldn't act as a free agent; it had Red China and Soviet Russia as partners and suppliers in the war.

- It suited world Communist strategy to tie up so much of the United States' military strength with such a small war and, with tolerable Communist losses, to cause such a large expenditure of American lives and money and to create so much dissension and unhappiness on the American home front.

But these conditions have changed:

- Red China's "cultural revolution" to prevent a capitalist, produce-for-profit trend like that in Russia has made Peking an uncertain source of war materials.

- The growing bitterness between China and Russia has made their entente, and hence support of the Vietnamese war, uncertain.

- And North Vietnam's war losses may no longer be tolerable, especially in light of the uncertainties of supply by her allies. A Russian diplomat in London said that the United States had "practically destroyed North Vietnam."

It is time, our military and diplomatic people think, for Vietnam to be looking for ways to get out of the war, and she has been doing this. There are many indications of it.

But all her efforts to date have had a precondition to peace talks: We must stop bombing North Vietnam and then maybe there can be a cease fire and a peace conference.

The United States is so anxious for peace that it would accept this condition, but only if North Vietnam would make a similar concession and stop sending troops into South Vietnam.

Our military men are death on cessation of bombing with no compensating action on the Communist side to slow down the war. Our diplomats are in support of the military in this. President Johnson refuses to "give up something for nothing."

Our intelligence shows that when we stop bombing North Vietnam as we did in the recent holiday truces, the North Vietnamese pour war material south into the war zone at five times the rate they can maintain under our bombing.

To quit bombing in the hope that this will somehow prompt the Reds into talking peace means that we gamble with the lives of our American servicemen there by permitting the Communists to win a diplomatic victory, to build up their armed forces, to increase their production of war material, to avoid famine.

There are many avenues of diplomacy through which the North Vietnamese can approach the United States about peace talks, but they have chosen usually to fly kites of rumor and to plant offers with non-official sources. The United States is acutely sensitive to all such flickers and the peace talk effort may be rather well advanced before there is any revelation of it. China is reported to have told North Vietnam that she can make a peace advantageous to her, but not through Russian auspices. When Mao Tse-tung loosed the Red Guards last summer to get the Chinese revolution back on his idealistic track he made the chance of peace in Vietnam brighter.

CHEF
Since I have lived here in South St. Paul I have met a nice friend, Blackie Franke Bruno, an Italian chef who has taught me how to prepare spaghetti.

I am now coming along well enough to prepare Italian food on a full time basis and I'm sending an article from the South St. Paul Reporter which tells about our serving 1,400 plates of spaghetti to earn $1,200 for youth hockey here.

The committee presented Blackie with a gold belt buckle with his name and mine on the front. I am really proud of this, as I love sports very much.

Canada AMC Has Week Shut Down

BRAMPTON, Ont. (AP) — American Motors of Canada Ltd. is expected to shut down its main assembly plant for one week, beginning next Monday, as a result of a two-week shutdown of parent plants in the United States, a company spokesman said.

About 1,100 assembly line workers will be temporarily laid off. The two-week shutdown of U. S. plants started Monday.

"The only reason that we will have to stop is because of a shortage of American-made parts," the spokesman said.

Spur To Red Spying?

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A western senator says that more than 80 per cent of his negative mail on the U.S.-Soviet consular treaty mentions FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's view that the pact would make the bureau's counterespionage work more burdensome.

This senator expects to see the Hoover comment cited endlessly by treaty opponents, particularly those writing under inspiration from the right-wing Liberty Lobby. The lobby already has generated a substantial volume of hostile mail.

The treaty, signed in 1964 but still not ratified by the Senate, would permit the establishment of two or three Soviet consulates in the United States, in exchange for comparable privileges for this country on Russian soil.

Based on the almost certainly valid assumption that the Soviet embassy in Washington is a spy headquarters, it is being further assumed that consular offices would serve the Russians as key espionage outposts.

Hence Hoover's comment about added burdens. Though angry letter writers to Congress seem unaware of it, Hoover also has said, however, that he would not assert the FBI is "incapable of handling" the presumed extra counterespionage effort.

The director is not saying it, but his much-cited concern may reflect the now-forgotten but sorry experience the United States had with German and Italian consulates in the immediate prelude to World War II.

Between June 16 and June 20, 1941, a full six months before those two countries declared war on us, the State Department ordered 24 German and 47 Italian consulates closed, along with tourist, trade and news agency offices. The two Axis powers retaliated.

Our note to Germany charged that Nazi consular and other offices were engaged in activities "of an improper and unwarranted character... inimical to the welfare of this country."

Official utterance did not go beyond that, but the air in America was thick with accusations that consular and other Axis agents were indulging in both espionage and propaganda activities intended to subvert our aid to the western allies and any future participation by us in the European war.

On Nov. 31, 1940, the controversial Rep. Martin Dies of Texas, chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, released a committee "white paper" purporting to document spying by Nazi and Fascist agents working out of their respective consulates.

Another outstanding impression conveyed to our evaluation of this event, was the gracious hospitality and kindness of the Players de Noc. We were ushered to excellent seats, enjoyed a tour of the backstage and an explanation of the modern equipment and then had the privilege of taking pictures for our school paper and yearbook with the cooperative directors and actors.

It was a delight to watch the rehearsal of "The Sound of Music" and this what our appetite for a return trip. Escanaba students, high school and college, plus the members of the community theater are indeed fortunate to have such excellent facilities for dramatic productions.

Our sincere thanks to John Romsted and his co-workers for a most stimulating evening.

Finesse Kills Setting Trick

start by playing clubs, so he leads out dummy's ace of clubs at trick two. Assuming that both opponents follow with low cards, South leads a club from dummy and if East plays low it is up to South to play his ten spot.

This is an example of a play that can't possibly lose a trick but may mean the difference between making the slam and going down.

The defenders have played three small clubs so that the only clubs left are the queen and jack. If West holds both of them, he must make a club trick. It doesn't hurt to let him make it right away. If West holds one of them, it also won't hurt to give it to him. South can pick up the other one from East any time. Only when East holds both is the ten spot play essential. This isn't likely, but it can happen and any successful declarer should guard against that chance.

Finding The Way Ann Landers Tells Of Other Side

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In one of the great Psalms of the Old Testament, there is a recurring line, "O, that men would praise the Lord, for His mercy endureth forever."

This word of praise was not meant to be preserved in the house of worship; it was said concerning the history of a people. The leader of the service of worship recounted the historic events of these people and they responded with this awareness of God.

Suppose you picked up this newspaper and the various events that are here reported ended with this same statement, "O, that men would praise the Lord, for His mercy endureth forever." Look what that does to the tragedy, the catastrophe, the threats to peace, the news of some scandal, the story of a citizen's achievement.

We are too prone to accept the rolling tide in history, allowing it to pass over us without an awareness of that which is happening. Every day's events come by and we treat them as though we were outside of this history. The truth is that we are all involved. We are a part of this passing scene.

A man who reads the newspaper and tries to isolate himself from these happenings is playing the part of the fool. The person who pretends that he can ignore what is going on around him must ultimately come to terms with reality.

Too many of us have the notion that we can praise God only in the time of great joy. Certainly there are those enormous moments of gratitude that cause a humble person to stand in awe of the bounty of goodness poured into a life. Yet the goodness of God is not a limited goodness. Tragedies carve the life of man until he seems hollowed, but it is that cup which runs over when the goodness of God is understood.

Frustrations buckle a man until he seems ready to burst, but it is into that frustrated person that the power of God brings new resilience of spirit.

I have a friend who has stopped reading the newspaper and disposed of his radio and television. He doesn't like to hear the sounds of today or read the stories of today. This is the ostrich.

Better the man who reads with unblinking eyes, understanding with a clean, clear mind both the tragedy and triumph, both the threat and the promise. Better the man who can read, as though it were a litany of faith, even when the tears sear his face, yet praying "O, that men would praise the Lord, for His mercy endureth forever."

Dear Ann Landers: I am not a talkative person, in fact I am on the quiet side, but my mother-in-law hasn't heard one word I have said in the past several years. The minute she sees me she turns stone deaf. Have you ever heard of such a thing?

When I speak to her and she doesn't answer it is very embarrassing. I am the only one in the family who has this trouble. She hears everyone else just fine. Do you think she is trying to tell me something? — PUZZLED AND MUZZLED

Dear P and M: I would not attempt to evaluate your mother-in-law's hearing but I suspect she has tuned you out figuratively as well as literally. Try not to show any evidence of exasperation. Continue to include her in the conversation. Your refusal to become irritated will speak so loudly for you that even the deafest doornail will hear.

Dear Ann Landers: You wanted to hear "the other side" of the story from secretaries who have traveled with their bosses. Here's mine, and I hope you print it.

In spite of what you say, Ann Landers, a dictating machine cannot wait the place of an on-the-spot secretary. Most work cannot wait until after the trip.

Traveling with the boss may sound glamorous but a traveling secretary does not sit in the sun all day and dance all night. While the boss is golfing and swimming with his business associates, the secretary is on the phone making travel changes, transcribing notes, typing and wishing she were back in the office.

So, to the wives who are wondering what goes on when her husband takes his secretary on a trip, I can tell you. Nothing, Dearie — absolutely nothing — except hard work, that is. — EX — FLEDGLING

Dear Ex: Oliver Wendell Holmes once wrote, "No generalization is worth a damn— including this one. And I agree with the great jurist. To assume that there is hanky panky whenever a boss takes his secretary on a trip is foolish. It would be equally foolish to assume that every such trip is strictly business. It all depends on the people involved — especially the secretary.

Hour Of Sharing Will Ease Famine

U. S. Protestant churches will seek to raise nearly $18.5 million through their 18th annual One Great Hour of Sharing appeal for funds to support their programs of aid to the needy overseas.

A goal was announced by James MacCracken, executive director of Church World Service, which sponsors the appeal on behalf of participating Protestant denominations. Observed annually on the fourth Sunday of Lent, One Great Hour of Sharing will be marked by more than 94,000 individual congregations throughout the nation on March 5.

"A penny a day can keep a child alive anywhere in the world where Church World Service works," said MacCracken.

MacCracken said "One Great Hour of Sharing means many things. It means food, clothing, vitamin pills, medicines. It means using new techniques, such as plastic houses to shelter those made homeless. Or it may mean expediting a supply of blankets to some small airport where they are desperately needed for clothing and shelter in an emergency."

"But it also means the personal sacrifice of those who go abroad to the ends of the earth to serve others."

Funds realized through One

Great Hour of Sharing will go toward support of individual denominational programs of assistance, as well as joint projects of aid carried on through Church World Service, in Asia, Africa, Latin America, the Middle East and limited areas of Europe.

Communities working together to aid the needy overseas in programs supported by One Great Hour of Sharing include: American Baptist Convention; American Lutheran Church; Churches of God in North America; Congregational Churches; Episcopal Church; Evangelical Congregational Church; Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of North and South America; Lutheran Church in America; Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod; Methodist Church; National Baptist Convention of America; National Baptist Convention, U. These Cookies Take To Traveling

By The Associated Press

BOYS AND GIRLS at school appreciate cookies that take to traveling. And mothers of several generations have often chosen a bar cookie made with an oatmeal base and a dried fruit filling to pack into lunch boxes for dessert.

When I was young, my mother made a version of these very cookies — just as your mother may have done. But in those days making them was a labor of love, for the oatmeal was often put through the food chopper. Nowadays these cookies are still made with love — but without any extra labor. Quick — cooking rolled oats are used "as is."

This is a sweet cookie, for its filling is a combination of dates and raisins, and brown sugar goes into the oatmeal base. We like these bars served with vanilla ice cream, with a tart lemon or orange gelatin dessert or with an unsweetened fresh fruit compote. They're delicious, too, when they're munched along with a cold crisp apple!

One tip about their making. Use the butter or margarine called for straight from the refrigerator so it is firm enough to "cut" easily into the dry ingredients.

RAISIN-DATE OATMEAL BARS

½ cup sifted regular flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
½ cup butter or margarine
1½ cups quick-cooking rolled oats

Raisin-Date Filling

In a medium mixing bowl sift together the flour, baking soda and salt; stir in brown sugar. With a pastry blender, cut in butter until particles are fine. Stir in oats. With your hands, press one half of the mixture over the bottom of a greased square cake pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches). With a small spatula, spread with Raisin-Date Filling. Cover with remaining mixture, pressing lightly. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven about 30 minutes. Cool partially in pan; cut in bars; with a spatula, remove bars, to wire rack to cool completely. Store in tightly covered tin box.

RAISIN-DATE FILLING

1 cup raisins

1 cup chopped pitted dates
½ cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
¼ cup orange juice

Into a small sauce pan turn the raisins, dates, granulated sugar, orange rind and juice. Simmer, stirring occasionally, until thickened — about 10 minutes. Cool. Use this filling as directed in Raisin-Date Oatmeal Bars recipe.

Betty Herbst Bride Of David D. Watchorn

Miss Betty Sue Herbst of Rte. 1 Escanaba became the bride of David Dale Watchorn of Ensign Rte. 1 during a double ring ceremony performed Saturday, Jan. 28 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Hyde.

The Rev. Phillip Kuehahn officiated at the nuptials at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Herbst of Rte. 1 Escanaba and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Watchorn of Rte. 1, Ensign.

Chantilly Lace

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor length gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with a fitted bodice trimmed with sequins and long tapered sleeves. Tiers of lace formed the bouffant skirt and chapel train.

A crown of bridal lace held sequin and crystal trim behind her veil of bridal illusion and she carried a cascading arrangement of white mums and red roses.

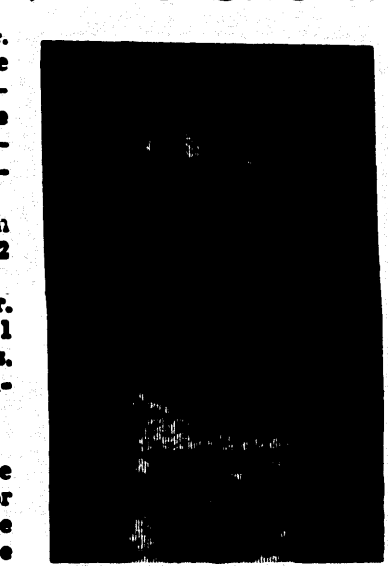

Maid of honor was Kathy Groleau of St. Jacques and bridesmaid was Mrs. Mary Casey of Escanaba, sister of the bride.

Red Velvet

They were attired in street length dresses of red rayon velvet styled with cowl necklines and cap sleeves. They carried bouquets of red and white carnations and white mums with foliage.

Serving as bestman was Butch LeBresh of Garden, a friend of the bridegroom and groomsmen was Roger Casey of Escanaba, brother-in-law of the bride. Seating the guests were Gary Watchorn of Ensign, brother of the bridegroom and Ray Herbst of Libertyville, Ill., brother of the bride.

For attending her daughter's wedding, the mother of the bride chose a two piece suit of light blue brocade with royal blue accessories. Mrs. Watchorn wore a two piece knit suit of turquoise and white with black accessories. Both mothers were presented white carnation corsages.

The wedding reception was held from 4 to 8 p.m. in the church parlors.

Following a brief honeymoon the newlyweds are now at home at 318 N. 18th St., Escanaba.

"Oh Give Me A Home"

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs its moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Last night a miracle occurred. It happened on the night after Johnny bought a new guitar and all of us joined in a family hootenanny.

When he came to live with us over a year ago, Sam didn't even talk. Raised in a sub-standard home, he was a mighty unhappy little boy with problems galore. He didn't like us at first—he wasn't glad to be with us. But, gradually, as the months wore on, he began to trust us and believe in our love. That night as the family sang together—Sam suddenly began to sing with us. The miracle had occurred. He was now one of the family. You see, the Church had taught us that the love of God accepts us completely and unconditionally. We had learned that we could love and accept Sam in the same way. In becoming a part of God's family, we had discovered how to create a new family of our own.

Comets Cop First Crown In Central Cage History

GARDEN — The Trenary Comets vaulted into the Central League throne room for the first time in the history of the league by defeating Garden 60-43 here Friday night.

Coach Steve Ellis' Comet cagers tucked away their first league trophy with a sparkling 14-0 record. Trenary has one remaining game, a league test at Bark River-Harris Friday night, but the outcome will not affect the championship race. No challenger is close enough to get into the title act, even if the Comets do not win their finale.

The title path was a rugged one here last night as Coach Dave Pelletier's Jets used their control style of game to extend the Comets well into the fourth quarter.

Trenary took a 13-8 lead in the first frame kept the Jets at bay through the first three periods, 43-41 with four minutes remaining in the game.

Ron Begovac flashed the signal for the Comets to move as he drove in for a layup. After that the Trenary Express roared down the home stretch to outscore the Jets, 17-2. Dennis Murphy and Mike Thibault drew their fifth personal for Garden during that span.

Kim Peterson displayed the eyes that has made him one of the Upper Peninsula's top point producers, connecting on nine field goals and six free throws for 24 points. Begovac chipped in 17 for the Comets.

Thibault was the top gunner for the Jets with 22 points and freshman John Lewandowski turned in a superb performance with 14 points and an outstanding job on the boards.

Trenary outscored the Jets by only one field goal, 22 to 21, but laced in 16 of 28 free throw attempts. Garden was able to cash in on only one of eight opportunities from the foul line. The Comets head into the season finale at Bark River-Harris with a 16-1 overall record.

Trenary also won last night's jayvee contest.

Holy Name Is Victim In Clincher By 97-52

By RAY CRANDALL
(Press Sports Editor)

Coach Harold Johnson's towering Eskymos utilized deadly accuracy from the field and free throw line, along with an awesome job on the boards, to sew up the Great Northern Conference cage crown by whipping arch rival Holy Name, 97-52, before a huge crowd at the Escanaba gym Friday night.

The Eskymos ran their conference record to 7-0, pulling out of reach of runner-up Iron Mountain regardless of the outcome of remaining games. They hiked their overall season mark to 13-2 with two to go against Stephenson and Marinette.

Holy Name stayed with the Eskymos in the early going but was eventually buried under an avalanche of buckets as Escanaba took command in the second half. The Eskymos connected at a torrid 54 per cent clip from the field, making 32 shots in 59 attempts. The Crusaders trailed with 17 of 49 for 35 per cent.

It was practically the same story from the free throw line where Escanaba converted 33 of 45 opportunities. The Crusaders hit on 18 of 38.

Escanaba staked out an early claim to the territory under the boards and hauled down 55 rebounds to 31 for their opponents. Dave Nyquist speared 23 in a workhorse role before sitting out the fourth frame. Bob Myrvall snared 11 in his three periods of action.

'Skins Top Tigers, Need Another Win

HERMANVILLE — The Hermanville Redskins captured at least a tie for the Big Seven Conference championship here Friday night by defeating Powers-Spaulding, 64-76, in a foul filled clash before a packed house.

The victory gave Coach Don Hill's cagers a 10-1 Big Seven mark with only one game remaining on the league schedule. The Redskins take on winless Alpha in the finale Friday, Feb. 24, following a non-conference tilt at Norway Tuesday.

Hermanville won again without the services of scoring star Randy Fochastot, sidelined with a strep throat.

And once again it was Len Walling who came through to carry the point and rebounding burdens for Hermanville. The 6 foot 3 inch senior triggered the Redskin attack with 35 points, coming off 15 field goals and nine free throws.

The Redskins used the foul line as a stepping stone to victory, converting 30 gift tosses off 33 Tiger personals.

Fouls proved the downfall of the Tigers who lost six players with the limit of five personals. Three reserves and one starter were on the floor for Coach Tom LeQuia when the game ended.

In addition to taking individual scoring honors, Walling was the top rebounder in the game with 19. Doug LeCoursier came through with 20 points, Mike Reiche added 10 and Jack Marans turned in an outstanding performance on defense.

Five Tigers reached double scoring figures before four of them fouled out of the game. Roger Stebbins set the pace with 16 points. Kim Riedy was the top rebounder for the Tigers with 17.

Powers-Spaulding outscored

Hermanville by four field goals, 31 to 27, but the Tigers were able to add only 14 free throws off 19 personal fouls.

Freshman Laurie Hull was crowned Homecoming queen at halftime ceremonies.

Spartans Watch From Sidelines

By The Associated Press
Michigan State was in the enviable position of being able to watch the other guy slug it out today.

The Spartans, sandwiched in a four-way tie for first place in the Big Ten basketball race, meet last place Minnesota tonight at East Lansing.

Two of the other three front-runners, Northwestern and Indiana, tangle at Evanston, Ill. Iowa put its 5-2 record on the line against Wisconsin.

In other Big Ten games, Illinois is host to Iowa in a televised tilt and Michigan entertains Ohio State at Ann Arbor.

"The thing I like is that, of the four teams tied for first, we are one of only two (with Indiana) to win twice on the road," says MSU Coach John Benington.

Four of the Spartans' remaining seven Big Ten games are with teams below eighth place in the standings.

"But the conference is too even for playing one of the bottom teams to help you," added Benington.

Michigan Coach Dave Strack made only one minor change for the OSU game, replacing 5-foot-6 guard Ken Maxey with former starter Jim Pitts.

"Ohio State's guards are big and Pitts (6-3) will help us more defensively," said Strack.

He said Pitts has "been playing real well" since he was suspended for missing practice a couple of weeks ago, and probably will work his way back into the lineup.

A victory over Ohio State (3-3) would boost the Wolverines (2-5) ahead of the Buckeyes into eighth place.

The Buckeyes have been playing without regular guards Dennis Meadows and Joe Sedel-Feld, both out with injuries.

Bruins Resort To Stall, Defeat Oregon By 34-25

By The Associated Press For a coach who abhors the stall in college basketball, Johnny Wooden of the unbeaten UCLA Bruins showed them how to do it. He had his team, No. 1 in the country in The Associated Press poll, hold the ball for nearly 10 minutes at the start of the second half enroute to a 34-25 victory over Oregon at Eugene Friday night.

Not until Lew Alcindor tapped in a rebound on a missed free throw by Mike Warren was there any scoring in the second half as the Bruins won their 24th straight game, including a carry-over of four from last season. It was the only shot Alcindor took in the entire second half and the 7-foot-1 super-sophomore finished with 12 points, his low of the season.

Elliott Proves He Was Right

NEW YORK (AP)—Villanova Tranco Coach Jim Elliott now gets to second guess the second-guessers.

A week ago Elliott was roundly criticized for standing at the side of the track while his star miler, Dave Patrick, was making a bid for a four-minute mile and waving and shouting for Patrick to slow down. He finished in 4:00.6.

Friday, Patrick followed what Elliott said was his exact plan and ran a 3:59.3 in the New York Athletic Club meet, the first sub-four-minute mile of the indoor season and of Patrick's life.

"I still think I was right," Elliott said of his tactics a week ago. "He's young and he still has a long way to go. More important, I did not want him to try to break four minutes off a 3:05 3/4."

Elliott said the plan was to run the first three quarters in about 3:02 because "with a time like that it's possible to strike for the jackpot."

Patrick covered the three quarters in precisely 3:02 and ran off to a 20-yard victory, dragging the rest of the field along to excellent times. Richard Komo of the Southern California Striders was second in 4:01.9, and the next four finishers made it in under 4:02.6.

Almost lost in the wild applause of the 15,382 at Madison Square Garden for Patrick, was Jim Kemp's 55.8 clocking in the 500, just three-tenths of a second off the indoor mark and by far the fastest time of the season.

"It seems evident that this type of play isn't in the best interest of basketball," Wooden said several weeks ago after Southern California used a stall and almost upset the Bruins in a 40-35 overtime game.

Why, then, did he use the stall himself against the Webfoots?

"We were ahead," Wooden said. "I'll never do it when we are behind and it's unlikely I'll do it in the first half. But we might do it all the time in the second half when we are ahead."

He indicated this would help emphasize the "inaction more than anything else" and perhaps influence the rules committee to put in a 24-second shooting rule like the pros have.

The UCLA stall overshadowed the 12th straight victory of the third-ranked Princeton Tigers over Columbia 55-41 and the 80-55 conquest of South Carolina by the fourth-ranked North Carolina Tar Heels.

Brigham Young edged Utah 61-60, West Virginia trounced Richmond 105-93, Washington State defeated California 85-81, Southern California took Oregon State 72-63 in overtime, Arizona downed New Mexico 70-64, Washington squeezed by Stanford 85-82 and Wyoming beat Arizona State 78-72 in other games.

Oregon, the last team to beat UCLA almost a year ago to the day, took a 5-2 lead but fell behind at 8-7 and trailed at the half 18-14 before a crowd of 10,500.

Two field goals by Nick Jones, the high scorer of the game with 14 points, pulled Oregon to within 20-18 with about eight minutes left. Steve Belko, coach of the Webfoots, considered this the turning point.

Joe Heiser's three-point play late in the game keyed Princeton to its 20th victory against one defeat.

The victory upped Princeton's Ivy League record to 10-0 and set up a showdown with runner-up Cornell, 9-1, at Ithaca tonight. The Big Red won their ninth in a row by wiping out a 12-point deficit to beat Penn 78-68 at home to stay on Princeton's heels.

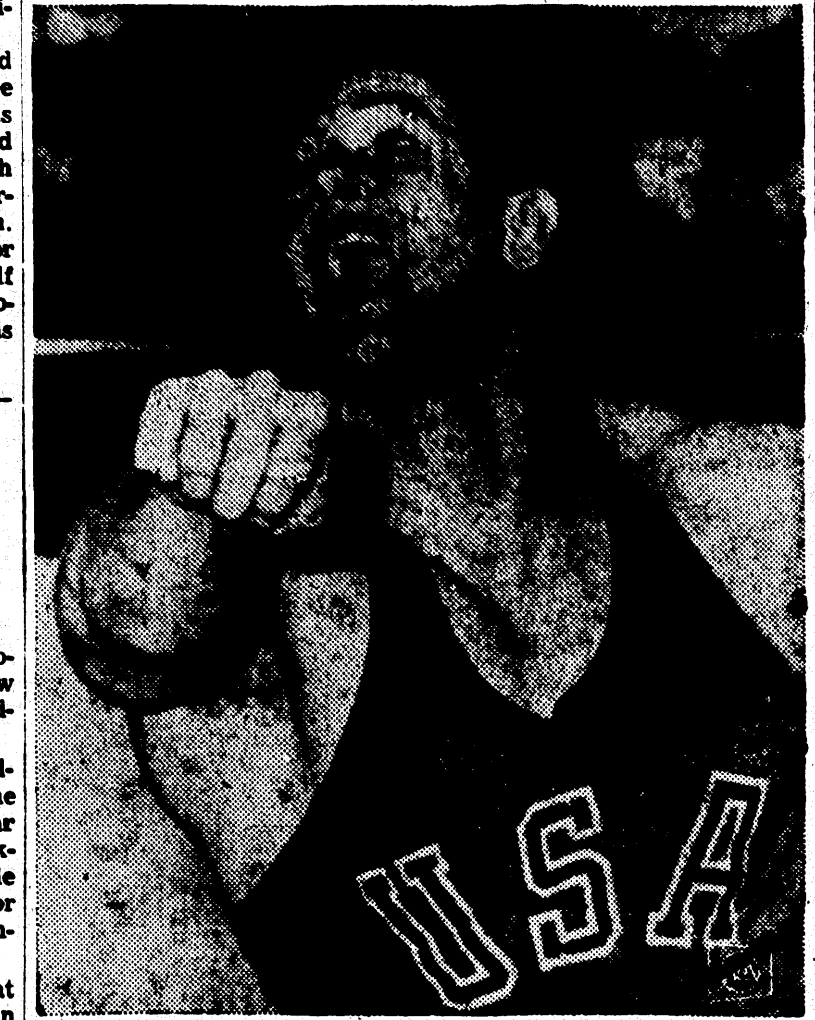

Ed Goldstone's 31 points led Yale over Harvard 84-78 at Cambridge and Alan Fishman's jump shot in the last four seconds gave Brown a 79-77 overtime triumph over Dartmouth at Hanover in other Ivy games.

Bob Lewis, with 23, and Larry Miller, with 20, combined for 43 points to pace North Carolina over South Carolina for the Tar Heels' 10th straight ACC victory. The game was the first of a doubleheader at Charlotte. Clemson made it five in a row by beating North Carolina State 62-50 in the second game.

Ted Wierman's 31 points led Washington State over California at Berkeley. Washington also won on the road over Stanford behind 22 points by Gordy Harris.

Virginia Military upset William and Mary 81-67 at Lexington, Va., Army whipped Rutgers 77-59 at New Brunswick, N.J., American U. crushed Fairfield 94-75 at Washington and DePaul routed Aquinas 114-64 in Chicago.

Montana State edged Idaho 74-72, Gonzaga thumped Montana 102-60 and Los Angeles Loyola overcame Pepperdine 90-82 in other games.

WORLD RECORD HOLDER Randy Matson of Texas A&M becomes quite an expressive young man when he puts the shot. Randy is competing indoors this winter instead of playing for the Aggie basketball team.

Gerry Lindgren Tops Clarke In Two-Mile Event

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — I was short of the world record of 8:29.8 run by Clarke on the same boards a year ago. Still the little American was 15 yards ahead at the finish as he sprinted past a tiring star.

Lindgren said he had hoped to run the first mile in 4:15 instead of the 4:16.8 it took him as Clarke let him lead until four laps from the finish of the 22-lap race. Then he surged past Lindgren only to have the little Washington runner spring back and speed past him.

Clarke declared: "He's very good, but this is my worst ever indoor meet loss. I was tired even before Jim Grelle dropped out of the race after three-quarters of a mile."

"I just got over the flu 10 days ago. I thought I could bluff him when I passed him, hoping he wouldn't think I was as tired as I was."

Despite Gerry's tremendous run, Stanford pole vaulter Jan Eshelman was voted the meet's outstanding performer with a leap of 16 feet 10 1/2 inches, a Cow Palace record.

Missing was San Jose State's Chris Papanicolaou, who did not receive permission to enter from the Amateur Athletic Union which had suspended him.

The exchange student from Greece got into trouble for vaulting last weekend in the U.S. Track and Field Federation meet in New York, an event without AAU sanction.

Earlier in the day, arbitrator Theodore Kheel had asked the suspended foreign student athletes be reinstated.

As a crowd estimated at 8,500 watched, a Cow Palace record fell to San Diego State's hurdler Don Shy, who ran the 60-yard timbers in seven seconds flat.

San Jose State's mile relay team of Ken Shackelford, Bob Talmadge, Lee Evans, and Tommie Smith ran a 3:14.1, the world's best ever around a 160-yard track.

Philadelphia 76ers Turn Back Celtics

By The Associated Press Wally doesn't want to keep up with the Joneses — he wants to keep ahead of them.

So, Wally, who also is a Jones, did his bit Friday night by scoring 10 points in the last quarter, as the Philadelphia 76ers defeated the Cincinnati Royals 127-118.

The victory kept the 76ers 7 1/2 games ahead of the Boston Celtics, the team with the only other Joneses in the National Basketball Association — K.C. and Sam — in the Eastern Division race.

The Celtics kept pace with Philadelphia, edging the Lakers 120-119 in Los Angeles on a pair of clutch field goals in the last two minutes by John Havlicek.

In the only other game, St. Louis came from 21 points behind to nip Baltimore 133-132 as rookie Lou Hudson scored 24 points in a last-quarter rally.

The Philadelphia victory at Cleveland overshadowed another milestone reached by Cincinnati's great Oscar Robertson. The Big O, now in his seventh NBA season, scored 27 points for a career total of 15,852, putting him seventh ahead of former Royal, Jack Twyman on the all-time scoring list. He also replaced Twyman as Cincinnati's greatest scorer.

The 76ers were leading 106-98 when Jones scored a basket. He then missed a foul but put in a rebound. He scored eight points in four minutes as the 76ers outscored the Royals 15-7 to take a commanding 119-105 lead.

Hal Greer was high for Philadelphia with 32 points, and Jones notched 23. Wilt Chamberlain scored only 15 but got a career high of 17 assists.

With Boston and Los Angeles tied 115-111, Havlicek connected on a jump shot and then clicked with a driving lay-up to give the Celtics a four-point edge. Tom Sanders' free throw with 47 seconds left iced the verdict.

Palmer Leading Tucson Tourney

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Most observers agreed that the Tucson National Golf Club course was made to order for Arnold Palmer and after two rounds of play he's shown they are right.

"Driving on these fairways is as tough as any course we've played this year," said Palmer, who held a three-stroke lead going into Saturday's third round of the $80,000 Tucson Open Golf tournament.

"One of the reasons I've scored so well is that I've been driving so well," said Palmer, who has stayed out of trouble with his drives on the long, heavily trapped fairways.

Palmer, who has been experimenting with aluminum shaft clubs, carded a five-under-par 67 Friday to go with an opening round 66 to hold a three-stroke lead over scrambling Chuck Courtney.

The all-time top money winner on the pro tour from Lethbridge, Pa., recorded seven birdies and a single bogey in the first round play and added six birdies and only one bogey Friday.

Courtney, 26, of La Jolla, Calif., was finding the 7,200-yard, par 36-38-72 desert course more of a puzzle than Palmer and has to scramble to stay in close contention.

Denver Downs Tech Sextet

ENVER, Colo. (AP) — Sophomore wing Craig Patrick scored a goal in each period to lead Denver University to a 4-1 Western Collegiate Hockey Association victory Friday over Michigan Tech.

Goalie Tony Esposito stopped 37 Denver shots as the pioneers' speed and deft passing kept them in the Huskies' end of the ice a good part of the match.

Denver's superiority was clear in the second period when the Huskies got only three shots at the net although the pioneers suffered three penalties.

Executive scout is the title Casey Stengel holds with the New York Mets. His contract runs through 1967.

Aquinas Suffers 114-64 Setback

CHICAGO (AP)—Depaul, hitting on 80 percent of its shots, walked to a 114-64 victory over Aquinas of Grand Rapids, Mich., Friday night for its 13th victory of the season.

The Blue Demons, who have lost seven games, moved to a 87-30 halftime advantage as senior Errol Palmer scored 18 of his 21 points.

Teammate Mike Norris, who had 16, kept Depaul's surge on in the second half as 14 players saw action.

Aquinas, whose record is now 15-16, was led by Paul Jagels who finished with 19 points.

January: Month Of Storms

The U. S. Weather Bureau, on the basis of local climatological data compiled in Escanaba, reports that January was an unusually stormy month. This is a rather obvious conclusion vividly recalled by those who battled snowdrifts and ice for 31 days.

On two days during the month (the 6th and the 16th) more than four inches of snowfall occurred in 24 hours; and on Jan. 11 there was a snowfall of 6 inches.

By the month's end a total of 20.2 inches of snow had fallen—about one-third more than the average for the month in past years.

"Stormy weather prevailed during much of January," the Weather Bureau reported. "Several heavy snowstorms occurred, interspersed by periods of unusually mild weather."

"There was even one of those January rarities, a thunderstorm."

"Precipitation was double the normal total for the month. More precipitation was recorded on the 24th than during the entire month of January, 1966."

"Although the maximum temperature on the 23rd was not a record for that date, it was only the second time that a temperature of 50 degrees or higher has been recorded in Escanaba in January. The only other occurrence was in 1942 when a high of 53 degrees was reached, and this was also on the 23rd day of the month."

Of the 31 days in January, there were 22 days with some form of precipitation, either rain or snow or sleet.

The month was one of temperature extremes, for in contrast to the 50 degrees record on the 23rd, the low was 18 below on Jan. 18.

The snow depth on the ground at the end of the month was reported as 10 inches—but this figure was a statistic only, for the snow was deeply drifted in most areas—ranging upward to six and seven feet.

Several severe storms have occurred thus far in the winter. Four major snowstorms have caused hazardous driving and caused the closing of schools. The most recent storm was on Wednesday, with schools closing generally throughout the area on Thursday.

What's the weather outlook? Not very good.

The temperature at 10 a.m. today in Escanaba was 8 degrees after a low of 5. The high today is expected to be 11 degrees.

Cloudy and light snow are forecast for tonight with a low of 2 above.

Sunday will have snow flurries but it will be not quite so cold. Monday's outlook is for "turning colder."

Hanoi: If Bombs Stop, We'll Talk

LONDON (AP) — A North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry spokesman in Hanoi has confirmed that talks can commence if the Americans stop the bombing of North Vietnam, the Communist Morning Star reported today.

In an undated dispatch, Freda Cook, its correspondent in Hanoi, quoted the spokesman as saying:

"This is not a new line but a new approach to the question of talks. The United States has protested often enough that it wants to talk as soon as there is the slightest indication that Hanoi is willing."

"Very well, let the bombing of the north stop definitely and talks could commence, without, however, any suggestion that Hanoi will budge one iota from the four-point stand which is the only basis for a correct settlement."

North Vietnam's four points include withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam and dismantling of U.S. bases, adherence to the Geneva agreements on Vietnam, settlement of South Vietnam's internal problems without outside interference and eventual peaceful unification.

Freda Cook said the spokesman agreed it was a question of the order of events rather than a change in policy. The other conditions embodied in the four-point stand could follow the commencement of talks instead of being an essential prelude.

Guided Missile Tubes Converted To Bear Traps

The Michigan Conservation Department is making bear traps out of used guided missile tubes, but its biologists aren't planning to launch bruins into outer space.

It's simply cheaper this way. The used missile tubes are given to the department by the federal government, and so they are more economical to use for traps than the steel culverts that have been employed for this purpose in the past.

Eight of the traps are being made this winter at the department's district garage in Baraga for use throughout the Upper Peninsula.

The traps are used primarily for removing bears from parks, camps, resorts, dumps, farms and other places where they may make nuisances of themselves.
